This marking sheet contains your tutors comments and feedback on the work you have submitted.

In line with the awarding bodies' marking regulations, each question will either be marked as PASSED (this means that the student has included all the necessary information in their answer to satisfy the Learning Objective. The tutor may or may not comment on the work) or REFER (this means that the student has not included sufficient information in their answer to satisfy the Learning Objective. The tutor will indicate what needs to be included in order to satisfy the Learning Objective.) If the Learning Objective is NOT MET, the student will need to resubmit additional information for the answer in order to meet the Learning Objective. ALL Learning Objectives MUST be PASSED in order to progress.

At the end of the mark sheet the student will be issued a grade, only a pass or refer grade will be awarded. In order to achieve a pass grade ALL objectives will need to be met.

QUESTION GRADES:

Question 1	Passed. Comment: The definition has been provided a clear awareness of what the terms mean and what these mental health conditions are Leticia.
Question 2	Passed. Comment: As noted there are defined differences between being in a low mood for a short while whereas the experience of depression is from longer terms of low moods and feelings of despair.
Question 3	Passed. Comment: The range of feelings from the experience of depression an individual might experience as well as the potential affects on how they can operate day to day has been understood.
Question 4	Passed. Comment: As related you have understood how when the individual is expressing feelings of depression their reactions and behaviours are very likely to affect others they associate with.
Question 5	Passed. Comment: As recognised day to day life is very likely to affect some individuals in the way that they are able to carry out day to day tasks so some may experience anxiety leading to feelings of depression.
Question 6	Passed. Comment: The content of understanding has been shown Leticia so depending on the verification processes I am allowing this to be placed forward as a Pass although please note that these points would have been better if formatted as a description using structured sentences.
Question 7	Passed. Comment: As noted Leticia the condition of post natal depression is a mental health condition that could affect a mother after the birth of their child and as stated doe differ from the short term feelings of baby blues.
Question 8	Passed. Comment: Recognition has been displayed Leticia on what are seen as possible risk factors associated with a mothers experience of PND and you were right to have included lack of support during pregnancy term.
Question 9	Refer. Comment: This cannot be placed through Leticia as 11 words are not a description. Please use the features you have recognised and provide within a range of a few structured sentences that would meet the command verb requirements. 27/05/22

Question 10	Passed. Comment: As noted you have understood that when experiencing PND as a condition the mother could be likely to feel that bonding with their baby is affected and also that they would be further affected with other members of their family.
Question 11	Passed. Comment: As understood these would be opportunities that prepare mothers to be for the birth of their baby so could reduce the risk of PND starting after the birth.
Question 12	Passed. Comment: As shown Leticia you have awareness these would be strategies that could be used towards self-help and what are possible to access for treatments as well as local services which could be clinics or even counselling.
Question 13	Passed. Comment: Awareness has been displayed with notice and understanding that this would need specialist support and/or treatments.

OVERALL GRADING:

Date Graded:	27.05.2022
Overall Result:	Refer
Comments:	Well done on the content of understanding for the topic areas of this assignment Leticia. There were issues in Q9 that was too concise for a description so I have advised in the feedback how the command verbs should be met. I will await the resubmitted work for this assignment within a few days Barbara P(Assessor) 27/05/22
